RACES DEATH TO
GIRL HE SPURNED

Millionaire's Son Arrives Too Late—"Friend" Dies of Poison in His Arms.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Louis J. Jacques, son of a millionaire sugar broker, raced with death early today to save the life of the girl who professed she loved him and swallowed poison when he refused to see her. The girl was Miss Hazel Dewey Rice, twenty-two. She died in Jacques' arms as he was speeding with her to a hospital.

Miss Rice, according to the story told by Jacques, telephoned him to meet her. He declined. She told him, he says, that if he did not come he would not see her again alive.

Jacques decided to keep the appointment. As he approached her he saw Miss Rice staggering toward him holding a vial to her mouth. Jacques placed her in his automobile and started for the hospital; but she died before reaching there.

Jacques told the police that Miss Rice was "merely a friend" and that they were not sweethearts. Letters found in the girl's room believed to have been written by Jacques, contained protestations of love.

CHURCH PLANS TO OPEN ROOF GARDEN

Project Is Expected to Keep Younger Members Glued to Narrow Path.

BUFFALO, Jan. 25.—Down in Corning, Steuben county, they have a big city problem in keeping the young folks in the church. Various ways have been tried to properly solve it, but with little success.

It remained for the staid congregation of the old First Methodist Church to evolve an innovation which they believe will at least help keep the youngsters closer to the straight and narrow way.

A roof garden will be one of the features of the church, the coming summer, the official board has announced. The garden, however, is to be used mostly for holding of religious services during the warmer months, but will have all the characteristics of the most worldly amusement places.

Atop the historic brick structure of the church, it will help to lure, the elders believe, the young folk into the services.

Coast Guard Service Experimenting With Planes for Use Along Border.

Airplane patrols soon may be active along United States borders in the fight to prevent smugglers from landing booze from Canada, Cuba and Mexico.

The coast guard service now is experimenting with airplanes at Atlantic coast stations and the United States customs service is expected to take up similar work within a short time. The coast guard and customs officials are assisting the Federal prohibition unit in enforcing the Volstead law.

But millions of gallons of liquor now are being smuggled across the border from Canada and in small boats from Cuba, according to Chief Ashworth of the customs service. Ashworth is of the opinion that airplanes might be useful in detecting smuggling along the Florida coast, where the regular customs inspectors and the coast guard officials are handicapped by small forces.

More liquor is smuggled into the United States from Cuba via the Florida coast than from any other point, according to officials.

SEES PLAGUE EVIL
IN HOUSING FAMINE

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Unless the housing shortage in this country is relieved the United States may be visited by plagues which are now troubling Europe and Asia, which perhaps might cause more than 1,000,000 deaths in this country, according to Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland.

"The housing situation must be relieved to get rid of the present congestion," said Commissioner Copeland. "The dread diseases of Europe are knocking at our doors and the best means of combatting the danger is to increase the number of homes. All buildings within 600 feet of the water front should have concrete foundations to prevent rats from entering."

GLEAVES IN VLADIVOSTOK FOR LANGDON INQUIRY

The United States cruiser New Orleans, with Admiral Gleaves on board, arrived in Vladivostok on January 22, the State Department was advised today. No reports have been received of the court of inquiry to be held in the killing of Lieut. W. H. Langdon, U. S. N., by a Japanese sentry, although it is believed Admiral Gleaves has started the proceedings.

LITTLE Jack Horner
Once a bread-scornor
Now asks for lots of Bond Bread;
"It's easy as pie
To eat it, and I
Want to grow bigger," he said.

Little Jack Horner
and Bond Bread

NAMES of kings and emperors die, but little Jack Horner goes on and on. And why?

Because mothers know that Mother Goose is wholesome mental food for boys and girls. For the same reason Bond Bread goes marching ahead.

MOTHERS helped design it, sending their own wholesome, home-made loaves as a pattern and a standard. They have learned to look for our Bond on the wax paper on each loaf, guaranteeing the health-giving purity of every ingredient.

FROM this Bond, Bond Bread takes its name.

In home after home, boys and girls—and little Jack Horner—and good Bond Bread—finish the day, and tumble away into dream-land together.
